THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1911.

Entered at the Greenville, Ky., postoffice as second-class matter.

A HORRIBLE mine catastrophe in West Virginia, and added to the recent mining tragedies in Pennsylvania and Alabama, affords yet another proof that State inspection does not inspect. Long experience demonstrates that when the miners, mine owners and operators are let alone they protect themselves much better than does the State from loss of life caused by neglect. State inspection of mines, like State inspection of factories, is for the most part mere political jobbery.

BERGER, Socialist from Milwaukee, thinks the government of the nation should be by a general town meeting. He would abolish the Senate, deprive courts of the power to hold laws invalid. Berger thinks he could stampede the House of Representatives in favor of Socialism if all the obstacles were removed, but he is too moderate. What he wants to do is to abolish the House as well as the Senate, and we doubt very much if there would be any use of the Presidents and the courts in his scheme.

Good Roads Enthusiasts.

Judge R. O. Pace, editor of the Sentinel, last week had the following center-shot editorial in his paper: "It is almost a daily occurrence for some man to ride into town, sometimes coming eighteen or twenty miles, to make complaint to the county judge about a mud hole in the road or a broken plank in a bridge when thirty minutes work would have fixed either. Such fellows are nearly always looking for a job, but most of them are perfectly willing to do the work and donate their time, just asking the county to give them ten to fifteen dollars to partly pay the extra help. What a blessing these philanthropic, public-spirited citizens are! So solicitous about the political welfare of the officials, that they are willing to make sacrifice like this every day in the year for their sake. We know them and learned to love and honor them during our four years' experience."

This hits the nail squarely on the head, and also hits a large number of persons who are so afraid that they will do something for nothing that they habitually refrain from cleaning out a ditch, nailing down a loose plank in a bridge, filling up a dangerous rut, or any other small job that could be done in five minutes time and provide safety for all who have occasion to pass over the road. Many land owners permit such things to exist right in front of their homes, and the effect is extremely bad. Most people recognize that they must do something for the public good, but there are enough who fail in this respect to make conditions unsightly and expensive, in the matter of highways.

Mrs. Isabelle Beverly.

The following appreciation is from the Plano, Tex., News. Mrs. Beverly was the mother of Mrs. W. A. Martin, of Paducah.

"Another good mother in Zion has passed to her heavenly home—a faithful, consecrated Christian of three-quarters of a century, a loving wife, and old fashioned, God-loving tender and affectionate mother—Mrs. Isabelle Beverly of Plano, this county, relict of the Rev. John Beverly, a pioneer minister of the Methodist church of this county, who passed away in May, 1888.

Mrs. Beverly died at the old home place, two miles from Plano, where she has lived for more than 50 years, at 5 o'clock this morning. On the 5th day of January, 1911, Mrs. Beverly was 79 years of age. She was a Missourian by birth, coming to Texas when a child with her parents, her maiden name being Isabelle Russell. Her parents came to Texas, Collins county and the little village of Plano in December, 1845, and she has resided in this county ever since.

When a young lady she was married to John Beverly, who after marriage, became one of the ablest ministers of his day in this county.

Mrs. Beverly was the last surviving member of the Plano Methodist church which was organized in 1848. The church was organized in her father's house four miles from Plano, on Rowlett creek, with twelve members.

The following children were born to Rev. and Mrs. Beverly: Joe W. Beverly, Tom M. Beverly and Mrs. Lula Beverly Hughston, Crowell, Tex.; Mrs. Lizzie Henry, A. Y. Beverly, Jim M. Beverly, (all deceased); John Beverly of Dallas; Mrs. Mattie E. Martin, Paducah, Ky.; Mrs. T. F. Hughston of Plano; Frank W. Beverly of Plano, who was living at the old home place with his mother.

All the children were present at the death of their mother, except Mrs. Mattie E. Martin, of Paducah. Mrs. Beverly had thirty-one grandchildren living, and eight great-grandchildren. She was the grandmother of Hon. Wallace Hughston and an aunt of Hon. George P. Brown of this city.

Mrs. Beverly raised and lived to see her sons, Judge W. T. Beverly, county attorney, and district judge and one of the foremost lawyers of the state, and her son, Tom M. Beverly, sheriff of this county; also her grandson, Hon. Wallace Hughston, county attorney, and her nephew, Hon. George P. Brown, county attorney of Collins county. Her grandson, Dr. A. Fitzhugh Beverly, until recently, has been assistant physician and superintendent of the insane asylum of Austin.

No better woman or truer Christian has ever lived in our great country. Her home was always open to good people, and we know this world has been made better and brighter by her having lived in it. The good, old, God-loving, consecrated mothers in Zion are fast passing away to their heavenly rewards, where sorrow, pain and misfortune are no more.

The funeral services will be held Friday morning at the Methodist church in Plano by Rev. C. B. Fladger.

The friends of the family from McKinney and surrounding country are respectfully invited to attend the funeral. Burial will be made in the cemetery at Plano, beside her faithful husband, who years ago passed to his reward.

These papers extend sincere and feeling sympathy to all upon whom bereavement has fallen in the passing away of this faithful, kind and lovable old mother."

Ice Delivery Starts May 6.

Regular wagon delivery of ice will be resumed on Saturday, May 6, and continued through the season. Persons wanting ice will use the cards, so that drivers may know to make deliveries. Ice can be had at the office up town or at the plant, as heretofore.

"I Suffered Intense Pains in My Left Side."

Do you realize it is better to be safe than sorry, that it is the best policy to lock the stable door before the horse is stolen?

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

cured Mrs. C. C. Gokey, of a stubborn case of heart disease, such as thousands are now suffering with. Read what she says:

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had grown so weak that it was impossible for me to do thirty minutes work in a whole day. I suffered intense pains in my left side and under the left shoulder blade. I could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath that I thought I should never be able to take a full breath again. The least excitement would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half-bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. I began to sleep well, had a good appetite, and improved so rapidly that when I had taken six bottles I was completely cured. MRS. C. C. GOKEY, Northfield, Vt.

If you have any of the symptoms Mrs. Gokey mentions, it is your duty to protect yourself.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. is what you need. If the first bottle fails to benefit, your money is returned. Ask your druggist. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

A SPRING TIME FANCY.

Written in memory of Annie Harbin Campbell who died April 10, 1910.

Again the spring has come, a gracious queen,
A fairy at whose touch all nature awakes.
Each twig, each blade of grass and flower rare
All wake, and feel anew their life sap stir.
The blue bird feels the magic of her touch
With hope renewed he whistles to his mate
And from its perch in ecstasy the green
Sends forth a flood of song, half-sweet, half-glad
While skimming o'er the field and through the vale
The mock-bird hears each note, each low love-call.

And stores them in his breast to waken he
Into a song more grand than all the rest
Which he will sing when come yet warmer days.

The wind, companion wild of winter's reign
Is changed, and calmly now pursues its way
Caressing all the earth with its sweet breath.
Yea, even the human being is transformed:
In spring time's season brief, forgotten are
The cares, the toll—the daily grind of life,
And all its sorrid things are as a dream
For in the heart a nameless joy wells up
Which crowds out all unhappiness and woe.
And in the absence of these earthly bonds
The soul is borne aloft to heights so great
That echoes from beyond pierce through the veil
And strike a chord responsive in the heart.
A chord which vibrates through the world
When Spring in all her majesty holds sway.
Though nature old responds to her sweet voice
And in her train there come new life and hope,
Unto the dead her call comes all in vain
The lifeless form, she never can restore.

To-day the school-girls trampled in by glee
But she the one who used to with them go
—That wondrous child whose eyes saw all things new
Whose mind gave promise rare of future power—
She whose dear voice was well loved by them all
Was absent from the merry throng of girls
Rejoicing in the April sunshine bright:
Was absent, and returned will be no more,
No more for her will school-bells ever ring
Or books their profound mysteries unfold.
—That marvelous girl, we knew she could not live.

For when a babe she seemed too fair and frail
To brave for long the stormy ways of life
Yet shielded by an aunt's and mother's care
She grew from infancy so pure and sweet
That, as a child of earth she did not seem
But like some being from another sphere
Who paused, for just awhile to show the way
To those grown weary in life's mystic race,
Ere she had left its imprint on her soul
Ere youth had passed or cherished dreams come true.

Her loved ones saw her slowly fade away
Like some pale flower in the woodland shade
Though sheltered from the elements so wild
Too frail to last until the harvest time.
And now the Spring Queen searches far and wide
She calls but no response will e'er be heard
From little Annie who in years gone by
Was her companion in each wild mood.
The butterfly which she was wont to chase
Flits by now undisturbed save by the wind
For she the wondrous seraph child is gone.

Local Mention.

Get ready to clean-up.

Mr. Duncan Hamilton is home from Elkton for a few days.

Miss Lena Arnold solicits club members and special pressing.

Large line of collapsible gocats at Roark's. Prices right.

Mr. John T. Reynolds, Jr., was in Louisville on business a day or two the latter part of last week.

Flies are appearing; get an even start with them and put your swatter in action; a death in time saves nine.

Needles for all sewing machines at Roark's.

Mr. James Oates, of McNary, was here last Saturday on business, and mingling socially with some of his friends.

Mr. C. M. Howard's two mule delivery team is attracting much attention, and is delivering the groceries at a rapid schedule.

See Coombs & Co. before you sell your beef hides. o 27

There has been some tall hustling in some sections by persons who were preparing for the clean-up squads that are billed for Friday and Saturday.

Everyone is given a special invitation to assist in the sanitary work that is to be done tomorrow and Saturday. Clean the town thoroughly, improve appearance and eliminate disease.

Telephone No 5 and your laundry will be called for and delivered.

The city authorities, with the help of some persons who have kindly contributed teams, have prepared to haul off all dirt and trash that is gathered in the round-up tomorrow and Saturday.

Americans are called hustlers, and are noted for doing things in a hurry. Recent statistics show that while we have only 5 per cent. of the earth's population we have 70 per cent. of the telephones in use in the world.

Do you drink coca-cola? Then try ours. It is pure and refreshing. TAYLOR & POOLE.

Mr. Ed S. Wood and wife returned last Friday from Wauchula, Fla., where they spent the winter. Mr. Wood was vastly benefited by his stay, and returns sturdy and vigorous. He has resumed his position in the First National Bank.

There was considerable uneasiness about the dam at the lake last Sunday, as for a time the water was right on the point of breaking over the top, the spillway on the top and the under spillway being inadequate to carry the water off fast enough.

Ribbons for all typewriters, legal document and manuscript covers, manifold and other papers, legal blanks, carbon papers in all colors, and general office supplies at this office.

Rains Do Vast Damage.

The continued rains of last Saturday and Sunday, accompanied by the heavy winds of Saturday, did great damage throughout Western Kentucky. Waters have never been known to be as high here, while the winds blew down much fencing, many trees and unroofed barns and houses. Roads suffered washouts, bridges were carried away, crops were damaged to some extent, but less than if the flood had come two weeks later, as not much bottom lands had been planted in corn. Railroads were put out of business for a short time, trains being held until washouts could be repaired. Water covered Caney creek bridge several inches for a short time before noon Sunday, the highest mark ever known. The I. C. suffered the loss of several hundred ties which were washed away. Large numbers of ties had been placed along the line through this section, preparatory to the regular spring replacements, and as very little of this work has been accomplished, most of the ties along lowlands were at the mercy of the water.

Let Me fix your clock.

Good morning! Are YOU in favor of good roads?

Mr. Harry Wilkinson will begin soon the construction of a modern cottage on Hopkinsville street, on the lot east of the Presbyterian parsonage.

New stock sewing machine needles at Roark's for all machines.

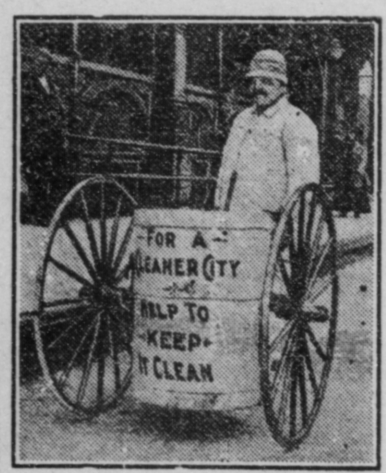

Good roads conventions are popular all over the State. They are more largely attended than political conventions, and are of much more importance.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new residence of Mr. David Duncan, on Hopkinsville street, and the completed structure will be a handsome home.

Have Barkley Bros. repair your stoves, and prevent a fire loss.

Dr. Henderson will preach at Graham next Sunday. Hereafter services will be held in the Presbyterian church in Greenville on the second, third and fourth Sundays of the month.

Daviess county is spending about $50,000 per year on permanent road improvements. Most of the roads in Daviess are in fine shape, and now the less used highways are the ones that are receiving attention.

Good morning! Ready for clean-up days?

J. E. Coombs & Co. buy beef hides. Highest cash price.

Mr. Baxter Morgan, of Nebo, spent a few days here the latter part of the week with relatives and friends. This is his first visit here in ten years, and his impression of our growth and improvements were very pleasing, and his expressions along these lines were gratifying to many persons to whom he expressed himself.

See Miss Lena Arnold for bulbs of all sorts.

Muhlenberg roads are badly in need of attention along many stretches. One of the worst features is the stoppage of the ditches, the material that should be on the road surface having been washed and crowded by winter rains and travel out into the ditches, making them higher than the road, with the effect, of course, that the waters run and stand on the highway, with the inevitable results of holes and mud. One ton is a maximum load, and that will require all the efforts of the team and a double portion of time.

McCracken has the largest stock of dials for timepieces ever carried in the county, and can fit anything from the court house clock to a toy watch.

OUR OLDEST RESIDENT

Mr. L. C. Chatham, Joins the Great Majority Tuesday Morning.

Mr. L. C. Chatham, born September 11, 1834, died at his home near court square at 10:45 o'clock Tuesday morning, from rheumatism and a complication of ailments. For some weeks he had been confined to his bed, and several days ago all hope had been abandoned that he would recover. For 75 years he had lived in Greenville, and was the oldest citizen, in length of residence, in the city. Mr. Chatham was a member of a prominent and well known family, and was widely known over the county. During his long years of activity he was engaged in the furniture and undertaking business, but many years ago he retired, and lived the remaining years in subdued activities. He never sought public office, preferring the quiet avenues. He was a prudent, frugal business man, a quiet, self-possessed man of social, neighborly traits, and had the rare faculty of contentment which few hold. In his death is removed another land mark.

Mr. Chatham was an old soldier, having served on the federal side in the civil war, and held the respect of his comrades in arms.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. G. P. Dillon at the residence at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, deceased being a member of the Methodist church. The services were largely attended, and interment was made in the old cemetery, beside the bodies of his children. His wife, a daughter, Mrs. James Ingram, of the city, and one son, Mr. Murray Chatham, of Chattanooga, Tenn., survive him, as do two brothers, Mr. J. G. Chatham, of this city, and Mr. John Chatham, of Arkansas City, Kansas, and three sisters, Mrs. Lucy A. Tinsley, Mrs. W. H. DeWitt, and Mrs. Jennie Mann, of this city, and their loss is shared by many friends.

An impressive feature at the grave yard was the attendance of several old soldiers and the appealing act of planting a silk flag at the head of the grave.

Troubadours to-night.

A mule was last week drowned in the road a few miles south of town.

Home grown strawberries are beginning to appear on the market.

Typewriter ribbons, all machines, at Roark's

Corn planting will be resumed in earnest as soon as the land is dry enough to work.

There was very little queen of the Maying done Monday, as the weather was not favorable.

There was a light frost yesterday morning, but it did little damage.

Mr. Fred Irvin has returned from Owensboro, where he has been under treatment for intestinal disorder and is very much improved.

Mr. Carlisle Kirkpatrick has purchased the C. E. Eades residence, adjoining the Presbyterian church, and will soon occupy it as his home.

Mr. Joe Long went to Louisville the first of the week and on his return was accompanied by his wife, who is recovering from an operation performed some weeks ago.

If you want a milk chocolate, strawberry milk or Bimbo Flip, we have it. TAYLOR & POOLE.

Circuit court adjourned last Friday afternoon, after a very busy session. The grand jury was active, and returned a heavy list of indictments, covering many offenses.

Mr. M. Fred, of Cincinnati, has been here for some days assisting his son, Mr. Sidney Fred, who has moved his stock of merchandise from the Lam block to the Jones building.

The lid was on tight here last Sunday, and will likely continue so. The cause of this is that the commonwealth is looking after this matter very closely now, and there were several persons fined heavily during the last term of circuit court for selling goods on Sunday. The city ordinances have been laxly enforced, but now that the State is in the game, Sunday violators are going to be scarce.

This Wilderness Road

with Goose creek alongside, and no civilization in evidence, shows a perfect highway, as it, like all roads, leads to the outside world. Unfortunately this splendid road is not in Muhlenberg.

Improvements at Cemetery.

The Evergreen cemetery board of directors, at a meeting last week, appointed a committee to receive bids on a concrete receiving vault, with capacity for four bodies, and it is proposed to have this constructed at once. The directors are also carrying forward a movement for a concrete pavement from the residence of Mr. John Coombs to the cemetery gate. Mr. Coombs has very generously offered to donate a strip of land for the pavement, so that the street can be widened, as that will be necessary for the appearance and convenience of the highway. The cemetery company will bear a large share of the expense, and it is proposed to secure the balance by popular subscription. Both these things will prove of great benefit. The vault is badly needed, as it is often extremely disagreeable to make interment at once, and this is the proper place in which to deposit bodies that for any reason are awaiting interment. The pavement will be four feet wide, and is badly needed, as it is almost impossible to walk to the graveyard when it is muddy. The next addition should be a macadam road instead of the stretch of some hundred yards between the city limits and the cemetery gate.

Gravestone Bohannon

Cards were issued this week announcing the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Raymond Gardner to Mr. Jo Haden Bohannon, the ceremony being performed by Dr. W. R. Henderson at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Bohannon, parents of the groom, at 9 o'clock, Wednesday evening, March 22. There were just a few friends present, and to them only was the matter known until the cards were out. The bride is a bright, attractive woman, and has made many friends here during her visits; the groom is deputy county clerk, and one of our most popular young men. The friends of both are extending congratulations and best wishes.

Eggs for sale—R. C. R. I. Reds, two pens, DeGraft and Tompkins strains, 75c, and $1 per setting. S. J. Landis, Greenville, Ky.

There was a dinner given in honor of Miss Mary Swain at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Roark last Thursday, and was attended by about forty of the relatives here and from out of town. Miss Swain has lived for several years in East Hampton, N. Y., but is returning to her home in Rock, Kansas, and will soon be married to Mr. James P. Steuber, near that place. After the dinner the bride-to-be was surprised by a shower, in which linens, laces, leather goods and other remembrances were given her.

Next Sunday is the date of the third quarterly meeting at the Methodist church, and the members are requested to observe the quarterly fast. Communion service Sunday morning, and the quarterly conference will be held at 7:30 Monday evening.

There will be a $1.50 excursion to Paducah next Tuesday, leaving here at 1:20 p.m., returning leaves Paducah at 6:10 p.m. Thursday.

Troubadours at Opera House Tonight.

Life, music and laughter will reign tonight, when the National Troubadours make their appearance at the opera house for the benefit of the Modern Woodmen of America. The caste is complete, the show in readiness, and everything forecasts a big success for the entertainment. The cast, made up of the best talent in Greenville, will represent the different nationalities, all in native costume, and songs. Indians, Spaniards, Mexicans and Italians all will parade while the newsboy will yell his paper, the report of the hunter's gun will be heard, and the countryman just come to town will be made sport of by three men from the city. The show will be full of good music, life and fun. Come and enjoy it and help the Woodmen. Admission 35 and 50c. Tickets now on sale at Taylor & Poole's.

Try Miss Lena Arnold's shop for high grade cloths pressing.

Protracted Meeting Closes Monday Night.

The series of revival services that for two weeks were held at the Cumberland Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. J. R. Morris and wife, evangelists from Texas, closed with the service last Monday night. These workers were rewarded gloriously in their labors here, somewhat more than sixty professions having occurred. Both are strong, earnest speakers, and made a host of friends here among our people.

An interested mother was last week advising her son to attend the revival meetings in progress at the Cumberland church; and was employing unanswerable arguments. The son listened without response for some time, but was evidently doing double duty in the thinking department, and presently he responded "Well, I must confess that church going has not become habitual with me but I have been several times, and have never once seen or heard of your pastor being there. My church going is impartial, and I am liberal enough to go to any and all churches. It seems to me that you should have a prayer meeting for that minister."

Quarterly Meeting Sunday.

Next Sunday is the date of the third quarterly meeting at the Methodist church, and the members are requested to observe the quarterly fast. Communion service Sunday morning, and the quarterly conference will be held at 7:30 Monday evening.

There will be a $1.50 excursion to Paducah next Tuesday, leaving here at 1:20 p.m., returning leaves Paducah at 6:10 p.m. Thursday.

Western Kentucky coal operators were in session in Louisville last week and elected Mr. Hywell Davies president.

There was a considerable fall of hail at various points in the county last Saturday afternoon. It was light here, and did no damage.

If you want that dead watch or clock put to work, let Mc have it and he will put it to running.

The ladies of the Woman's Book Club are co-operating in clean-up movement, and will be present in the various sections both days.

Hon. R. V. Thomas is prospecting for a home here, and if he can secure such a residence as he desires, or a suitable lot on which to build, will make his home here. We shall be glad to have him and his family.

Mr. Thoma Taylor is at home again, and is awaiting reports from his examination at Owensboro, on which depends his acceptance, as naval cadet at Annapolis. Mr. Taylor has the appointment, and spent several weeks at the training school at the naval academy.

In one respect Muhlenberg roads are built along the lines of the standard railroads of America. The railroads have a track tank in the center, from which the engines take water while the train is running. Many miles of Muhlenberg roads have the water channel in the center of the roadway. The plan is not satisfactory on roadways, though it is excellent on railroads.

PROCLAMATION.

In obedience to the common custom and in order to promote good health and cleanliness within the limits of the city of Greenville and by virtue of authority vested in me, as mayor of the city of Greenville, I hereby designate and set apart Friday and Saturday, May 5th. and 6th, 1911, as clean up days requiring all residents and occupants of property within the city of Greenville to observe those days by cleaning up their back and front premises, outhouses, lawns and premises to the front property line by removing all unsightly trash and filth, decaying animal and vegetable matter from said premises. All trash, filth, rubbish etc. may be placed in convenient places on the side of the streets so that it can be removed by the city. Given under my hand as mayor of the city of Greenville this April 26th, 1911.

J. W. LAM,
Mayor City of Greenville.

The Modern Woodmen Parade

will form at the S. E. Rice tobacco factory at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon May 9. All members take notice and govern yourselves accordingly. You are expected to be in the line of march, and if you are not you will be asked to give a good reason why you were not.

C. S. CURD, Consul.
J. H. PITMAN, Clerk.

It is reported that a colored man was drowned in Pond river Tuesday, but his name could not be learned. He was on horseback, coming out from Hopkinsville en route to Calhoun. The horse got out of the high waters, but the man was swept away, and his body had not been recovered yesterday afternoon.

If it is sewing machine needles and supplies you want, Roark is the man you want to see.

Mr. John Embler, who has returned to his native county after an absence of many years in Illinois, will locate in Greenville, and has purchased a 60 foot lot from Mr. W. A. Wickliffe, on Hopkinsville street, and will build a modern home thereon at once. The lot adjoins the one on which Mr. Wickliffe's new home is located, and just east of Mr. Embler's lot is one which Mr. Wickliffe recently sold to Mr. Wm. E. Drake, who also expects to build.

Drakesboro, which has made the greatest gain, about ten times over, of any town in the county, declares that it will next census time be the metropolis of the county. The first step in that direction will be the providing of streets, which the councilmen are now planning, and promise to carry through. Nothing more important could be done, as the streets of Drakesboro are not now distinguishable from the county roads, and a town with 1,126 people needs, can afford and should have macadam or better streets. We are glad to learn that our neighbor city is waking up, and if it should become the county's largest town we shall still congratulate it.

Best work, prompt service: give your laundry to Joe Morgan, who will appreciate your patronage.
